Organ builders' brochures

Throughout the 20th century British organ builders printed glossy brochures to advertise their instruments. The brochures often contain information that may not be available elsewhere, such as details of opening recitals, and sometimes brief histories of the organ. The brochures in this catalogue are usually in very good condition with only slight signs of wear or age.

£5 per brochure (+ £2.50 p&p - UK only)

- additional brochures in the same order are £2.50 each

Notes

1. Brochures which have been indicated as SOLD in previous catalogues may re-appear in this catalogue as replacement stock has been acquired
2. The date against each entry is usually taken from the brochure or other sources such as NPOR and in most cases refers to the date of building/re-building of the organ. Brochures may have been reprinted for several years after this date.

The Toccata and Fugue in D minor BWV 565 has been one of the most popular pieces in organ recitals for more than a century. However, the longstanding attribution of this work to Johann Sebastian Bach has been questioned by many scholars. Dr Rolf Claus has examined both the historical sources and scholarly literature and provides a detailed analysis of the available evidence for the attribution of this iconic work. First published in 1998, in German, this updated edition includes recent research in a translation by John Sayer.
