Martin Renshaw: ABC of a medieval church

*ISBN 9780956710253 (At the Sign of the Pipe, February 2018)
128pp, many b&w illus and 10 pages of colour plates. £8 (+p&p)*

ABC of a medieval church - a book for all those who look after and love medieval churches.

Distilling the results of ten years of documentary research and survey visits to over 800 selected churches, this book sets out a new approach to its underlying subject : how all medieval church buildings, irrespective of their architecture, were designed functionally. By taking account of what has been lost, as well as what can still be found by careful search, it explores how the daily working demands made on medieval churches were accommodated.

Understanding the ways in which this was done seems to the author to be crucial to the protection and conservation of historical evidence in England's unique heritage of medieval churches.
